The UW Blueprint Toolkit: PHASE 1a (Sept- Oct half term)

In the first few weeks (Phase 1a - Sept – Oct half term) trainees will be working with tutors, Regional Training Hubs and mentors on "practice-able" skills as a dress rehearsal for their phase 1 teaching. They develop essential routines and procedures and focus on lesson planning and personal target setting skills. We ask mentors to 'go granular' with focused SHARP target setting, 'plan, practice, follow-up and repeat' using 'regular and frequent feedback'. During Intensive training and practice weeks (ITAPs) trainees will practice some of the skills shown in blue below. After half term (Phase 1b – Oct half term – Christmas) trainees build on skills so that routines and procedures become embedded and they begin to use formative assessment to 'assess, plan, do and review'.

3. Giving clear instructions: manageable, specific, and sequential instructions (BM3) (BM4).	a) Formative assessment: Model effectively: Set the bar for excellence (HPL1) (HPL5) (SKP1) (SKP2) (SKP3) (A2)
• Use language economically by: giving clear, intentional consistent instructions with as few words as possible to prevent cognitive overload (e.g.	<ul> <li>Script out the ideal responses you want pupils to produce during independent practice (I do, we do)</li> </ul>
3-word directions).	Align independent practice to the upcoming interim assessment (you do)
• Check pupils' understanding of instructions before a task begins.	b) Independent practice: Set up lesson routines that build opportunities for pupils to practice independently (HPL1) (HPL5) (SKP1) (A2)

• Revise routines that need more attention to detail or is inefficient, with particular emphasis of what pupils and teachers are doing at each moment.	(think, pair, share), so that every pupil acts independently before hearing their peer's contribution.
• Reinforce: have pupils do the routine again if not done satisfactorily the first time and respond consistently to pupil behaviour.	• Implement a purposeful lesson starter activity (e.g. 'do it now' or 'bell work') to either introduce the lesson objective or retrieve material from a previous lesson.
Know when to stop the 'do it again'.  The show redow (Approximately CDM4) (BM4) (BM4) (BM4)	Implement and review a longer independent practice and/or a plenary task to see which you can circulate to stand and monitor pupil work.	Live marking: Assess pupil work as you circulate

- Move away from the pupil who is speaking to monitor the whole room.	- Use a coding system to affirm correct answers.
6. Whole-class reset (BM3) (BM4) (BM5)	- Cue pupils to revise answers, using minimum verbal feedback (name the error, ask them to fix it, tell them you'll follow up).

• Implement an "in-the moment reset" when a class veers off task during the lesson. Example: stop teaching, give a clear "what to do", praise, pick up tone and energy.

Things you need to know:

No one is born a great teacher. Great teachers continuously improve over time, benefitting from the mentoring of expert colleagues and a structured introduction to the core body of knowledge, skills and behaviours that define great teaching.

The Department for Education has published the Initial Teacher Training and Early Years Framework (ITTECF) (2024). This document establishes an entitlement to a 3 year (or more) structured package of support for new teachers. The ITTECF has been used to help design our curriculum (think of it as the PGCE syllabus but we have added more). The curriculum design is based on years of experience in training teachers, input from mentors in school and is underpinned by the evidence of what makes great teachers. Our ITT curriculum is ambitious and goes beyond the minimum entitlement set out in the ITTECF.

The ITTECF sets out two types of content. Within each area, key evidence statements ('Learn that...') have been drawn from current high-quality evidence from the UK and overseas. You will see these statements referenced in all taught sessions.

In addition, the ITTECF details practice statements ('Learn how to...'). These 'learn how to' statements may be referred to in taught sessions. They are also woven into this progression document so that you can use them in partnership with your mentor to develop key skills. You will also have opportunities to work with, and learn from, expert colleagues as you apply your knowledge and understanding from taught sessions and reading into your classroom practice.

The booklet is organised into UW Curriculum Threads: behaviour management; how pupils learn; adaptive teaching; subject knowledge and pedagogy; assessment and professional behaviours. You will notice these themes as they spiral through your training where you will revisit key aspects in different phases of the course. You may also see a spiral called 'equality, diversity and inclusion' that is referenced against Part 2 of the Teachers' Standards in this booklet.

The Teachers' Standards are the minimum level of practice expected of trainees and teachers from the point of being awarded qualified teacher status (QTS) and they will be used for summative assessment at the end of the course. They are shown in the right-hand column of this booklet. The monitoring of your progress in this booklet uses the curriculum themes identified above as a progressive formative assessment tool. In phase one of the course the themes will be launched to support your emerging phase in the first few months of the course. The booklet will allow you to diagnose deficits and close gaps. As you move into phase 2 of your training (after Christmas) you will begin to work with expert colleagues to consolidate areas of strengths and identify areas for development. This will enable you to embed knowledge and use it fluently as you move into phase 3 where you will be encouraged to renew and flourish, going beyond the minimum requirements of the Teachers' Standards.

The Teachers' Standards are used to assess all trainees to be recommended for qualified teacher status and will also be used to assess your performance as an Early Career Teacher which is the maturity phase of your training.

When will I be assessed?

It is important that we (you, your mentors, and your tutor(s)) track progress at interim points. This is in addition to the tracking that is completed as part of the weekly review process. Tracking is always on-going and a negotiated support plan (between you, your mentor, and tutor(s)) can be put into place to offer additional support. The interim points are:

- At interview
- 2. Using the 'Progression' booklet which links to the first school report
- 3. Phase 1 report (December) assessment is made against the curriculum threads
- 4. First progress review (December) (part of PSEC3000 Meeting the Teachers' Standards)
- 5. Using the 'Progression' booklet that links to the second school report
- 6. Phase 2 report (Easter) assessment is made against the curriculum threads
- 7. Second progress review (Easter) (part of PSEC3000 Meeting the Teachers' Standards)
- 8. Using the 'Progression' booklet
- 9. Phase 3 Final report (June) assessment is made against the curriculum threads and the Teachers' Standards
- 10. Career Entry Profile (CEP) (part of PSEC3000 Meeting the Teachers' Standards)

Mentors should use their professional judgement and common sense to assess you at a level that is consistent with what should reasonably be expected of you given your level of experience at the end of the course. Standards are presented in this booklet in the right-hand column as separate headings, each of which is accompanied by several bullet points. The bullets points are an integral part of the Standards, designed to illustrate the scope of each heading. They should not be interpreted as separate stand-alone standards, but used by you, mentors, and tutors to assess progress towards each Standard. All judgements are made through the lens of the progress pupils make in the sense of knowing more, remembering more and being able to do more.

This booklet is a formative assessment tool allowing you to periodically self-assess your progress (weekly reviews) and set challenging personal targets. Use the language to help you to write focused/SHARP targets considering how you move to a good or high performing profile. A reminder of the SHARP target setting methodology is shown here. See Blackboard or the Partnership website for more information. Mentors should also use the booklet as guidance when writing school reports.

How the booklet works.

Using the booklet in weekly reviews - Below is an example of how a maths trainee might use the booklet in a weekly review. THE BOOKLET SHOULD BE IN CONSTANT USE.

You are in Placement 1. Let's say you would like to practice planning a task. After discussion with your mentor, you decide to plan a retrieval practice type task with the Year 7 set 1 group you will be 'solo' teaching. You observe your mentor using a retrieval practice task in two lessons and you take notes about the structure of the task and how it was managed. You also review university sessions on How Pupils Learn and a subject session in which different task types were discussed. You discuss the expected prior knowledge of the students with your mentor and discuss any potential misconceptions. You are progressing towards 'emerging' in Subject Knowledge and Pedagogy and How Pupils Learn.

TARGET: Plan a retrieval practice task with Year 7 set 1 for week beginning 1st November which is focused on helping students remember how to find the area of a rectangle.

STRATEGIES: Choose one of the two retrieval practice task types observed. Identify the key knowledge and understanding that students need to 'bring to mind'. Share planning in advance with mentor A. Make any suggested adjustments. Consider how the task will be managed and how the mentor will provide support. Write a short plan identifying what will be done and what the likely response from the pupils will be. Teach the phase of the lesson, write an evaluation and discuss at the weekly review meeting. Identify further opportunity to practice planning and teaching this phase of a lesson.

Using the booklet for progress reviews (December, Easter and June) – When the cumulative reports are being written it is useful to reflect on your progress and 'where you are at now'. This will allow you to set meaningful and realistic targets for your development as part of the transition plans on PebblePad. Before the first report highlight the text in bold (or dotted underline it on a hard copy). Your second report is written at Easter - underline where you are working at and, before your final report, highlight your progress. This will help you and your mentor to agree on the final outcomes for the summative report in June. The interrelationship of the curriculum areas means that weaknesses in any area are likely to impact on the progress that pupils make.

TS5a Know when and how to differentiate [adaptive teaching] appropriately, using approaches which enable pupils to be taught effectively
AT2 (5h) (5p)	Begin to recognise some potential barriers to learning and suggest some strategies to overcome them.	With the support of mentors/ expert colleagues, incorporate strategies to overcome barriers to learning considering grouping of pupils within the class.	Use a variety of strategies to challenge and motivate pupils where attainment is low. For example, discuss and analyse with mentors/expert colleagues how to:  - Balance input of new content with the revisiting of prior learning so that pupils master important concepts and experience success.  Group pupils effectively, by:  - Applying high expectations to all groups.	Group pupils effectively, by:  Intentionally grouping in relation to a specific learning outcome, regularly reviewing those groupings, taking care to monitor their impact and avoiding the perception that groups are fixed. Provide high quality feedback, by:  - Focusing on specific actions for pupils and providing time for pupils to respond to feedback.	Avoid common assessment pitfalls, by:  - Drawing conclusions about what pupils have learned by looking at patterns of performance over a number of assessments (e.g. appreciating that assessments draw inferences about learning from performance).  Check prior knowledge and understanding during lessons, by:  - Structuring tasks and questions to enable the identification of knowledge gaps and misconceptions (e.g. by using common misconceptions within multiple-choice questions).  Provide high quality feedback, by:  - Appreciating that pupils' responses to feedback can vary depending on a range of social factors (e.g. the message the feedback contains or the age of the child). Part 2 a teacher's career.

A teacher is expected to demonstrate consistently high standards of personal and professional conduct. The following statements define the behaviour and attitudes which set the required standard for conduct throughout

Teachers uphold public trust in the profession and maintain high standards of ethics and behaviour, within and outside school, by:

- treating pupils with dignity, building relationships rooted in mutual respect, and at all times observing proper boundaries appropriate to a teacher's professional position.
- having regard for the need to safeguard pupils' well-being, in accordance with statutory provisions.
- showing tolerance of and respect for the rights of others.
- not undermining fundamental British values, including democracy, the rule of law, individual liberty and mutual respect, and tolerance of those with different faiths and beliefs.
- ensuring that personal beliefs are not expressed in ways which exploit pupils' vulnerability or might lead them to break the law.
- teachers must have proper and professional regard for the ethos, policies and practices of the school in which they teach, and maintain high standards in their own attendance and punctuality.

Teachers must have an understanding of, and always act within, the statutory frameworks which set out their professional duties and responsibilities.

 Have a commitment to the teaching profession, and the development of appropriate professional relationships with colleagues and pupils. Have regard for the need to safeguard pupils' well-being, in accordance with statutor

Pass

- with colleagues and pupils. Have regard for the need to safeguard pupils' well-being, in accordance with statutory provisions. Know who to contact with any safeguarding concerns and have a clear understanding of what sorts of behaviour, disclosures and incidents to report.
- Understand that by law schools are required to teach a broad and balanced curriculum and are beginning to develop pupils' wider understanding of the social and culture of different faiths, in line with the maintenance of fundamental British values.
- Understand the challenges of teaching in modern British schools and the implications of the Prevent strategy.
- Assume an appropriate degree of responsibility for the implementation of workplace policies in the training setting. Adhere to school/university policies and practices, including those for attendance and punctuality.
- Have a broad understanding of statutory professional responsibilities, including the requirement to promote equal opportunities and to provide reasonable adjustments for pupils with disabilities, as provided for in current equality legislation. Are aware of the professional duties of teachers as set out in the statutory School Teachers' Pay and Conditions document.
- Adhere to the school and university VLE/internet safety policy including safe and responsible use of social media.

- Fails to follow the course code of conduct.
- Unable to demonstrate a commitment to the teaching profession. Unable to develop appropriate professional relationships with colleagues and pupils or do so inconsistently. Have little or no regard to the need to safeguard pupils' well-being, in accordance with statutory provisions. Do not understand or demonstrate that, by law, schools are required to teach a broad and balanced curriculum and have not begun to develop pupils' wider understanding of social and cultural diversity.
- Unwilling or unable to assume an appropriate degree of responsibility for the implementation of workplace policies in the training setting. Do not fully and/or adequately adhere to school policies and practices, including those for attendance and punctuality.
- Little or no understanding of the challenges of teaching in a modern British school or the implications of the Prevent strategy.
- Do not have a broad enough understanding of statutory professional responsibilities, including the requirement to promote equal opportunities and to provide reasonable adjustments for pupils with disabilities, as provided for in current equality legislation. Are unaware of the professional duties of teachers as set out in the statutory School Teachers' Pay and Conditions document.
- Unable to adhere to the school's or provider's VLE/internet safety policy including safe and responsible use of social media.

What do report grades mean?

Reports are cumulative. For the phase 1 report (December), phase 2 report (Easter) and phase 3 (June) reports use performance assessments on a cumulative template based on the ITTE curriculum. For phase 3 trainees are also assessed against the Teachers' Standards (see right hand columns on the grids). It is acceptable for progress to be 'emerging' in phase 1. If performance is 'not on target', meaning that your performance is yet to be judged as 'emerging', you will be given additional support. Trainees that are 'not on target' will be given a targeted support plan. An 'emerging' grade at the end of phase 2 (Easter) indicates a risk of failure and intervention will be needed to support your progress. You are expected to be demonstrating good or high performing characteristics in phases 2 and 3 (spring/summer). Part 2 of the standards 'Personal and Professional Conduct' are assessed 'pass' or 'fail' at all points in the course.

Phase 1 Report (Formative Assessment Point 1) - December

At this stage in the course, it is important that you, and those involved in your training, have a clear picture of what has been achieved so far. The reports are a mirror of the Progression booklet and give a 'snapshot' of your progress against the curriculum threads at the given point. We ask that these reports are detailed and an honest and fair judgement. Judgement should be based on tracking in this booklet and should be a best fit professional opinion. You are not expected to meet every aspect of the bullet points for an overall judgement to be made. Due to time constraints, you are only expected to be 'emerging' and in some cases 'confident' for the phase 1 report.

Phase 2 Report (Formative Assessment Point 2) - Easter

The second phase report builds upon the comments written by mentors from your phase 1 (autumn) placement. It is possible for the same text to be bold and underlined if you have not been able to make progress in a curriculum thread. As previously, it is important that you and those involved in your training, have a clear picture of what has been achieved so far. Judgement should be based on tracking in this booklet and should be holistic best fit professional opinions. For this reason, there should be no surprises as you should know how you are progressing. If you are deemed 'emerging' for any of the threads in phase 2 this indicates that you are not yet meeting the minimum expected competency so will negotiate a targeted support plan with your subject tutor/mentor and will meet with the Course Leader. A trainee graded at 'confident' will be monitored closely by the subject tutor. Intervention strategies will be put into place if needed.

Phase 3 Final Report (Summative Assessment Point) – June (or the end of the course)

This report should reflect achievement at the end of the course and is assessed against the curriculum threads leading to a decision about the end point assessment - Teachers' Standards (as shown in the right-hand columns of this booklet). This should include evidence gathered from observations, weekly reviews and from the periodic reviewing of this 'Progression' booklet. Again, the outcomes are holistic best fit professional judgements made by mentors and moderated by university tutors, external examiners and course moderators. It is also important to indicate the areas for development and targets that should be taken forward as you enter the Early Career Teacher phase of your development. To pass the course and be recommended for QTS you must meet all sections of the Teachers' Standards at the end of the course.

At the end of the course, you will have a viva voce (tutorial) to make an accurate and rigorous final assessment for the award of QTS in relation to the Teachers' Standards (see PEC3000 in the Assessment Guidance)

Observing expert colleagues

'The quality of teaching is the single most important inschool factor in improving outcomes for pupils — and it is particularly important for pupils from disadvantaged backgrounds. No one is born a great teacher. Great teachers continuously improve over time, benefitting from the mentoring of expert colleagues and a structured introduction to the core body of knowledge, skills and behaviours that define great teaching'

(ITT Core Content Framework, DfE 2019)

For this reason, observation of expert colleagues is key. Use one or more of these questions to help you when observing mentors/expert colleagues.

What is the impact that teaching has on pupil progress?

- 1. How does the lesson structure break tasks down into constituent parts to ensure pupils know more, remember more and can do more?
- 2. How are pupils engaged and challenged given their prior skills, knowledge and understanding?
- 3. How are modelling/explanations/scaffolds used to make connections between knowledge to ensure progress?
- 4. How does the teacher ensure all pupils are asked a range of questions to extend and challenge their learning?
- 5. How often are pupils able to work independently (where necessary), self-regulating their progress and showing resilience?
- 6. How do pupils improve understanding as a result of intervention and feedback (including from peers and other adults) on their learning?
- 7. How and when do pupils have opportunities to retrieve, consolidate and apply new knowledge and skills?
- 8. How does the teacher manage pupil behaviour appropriately to ensure that progress is made in a supportive and inclusive environment
